Trail summary

Location

The Linville to Blackbutt (via Benarkin) section of the Brisbane Valley Rail Trail is located in the upper reaches of the Brisbane Valley and crosses the rugged and picturesque Blackbutt Range. Linville is situated approximately 51 kilometres north of Esk and is approximately two hours drive from Brisbane via the Bruce and D'Aguilar highways, or the Warrego, Brisbane Valley and D'Aguilar highways. Blackbutt and Benarkin, approximately two hours drive from Brisbane, can be reached via the D'Aguilar Highway.

Landscape heritage

There are magnificent views of the Brisbane Valley and surrounding landscapes from the Blackbutt and Benarkin Range sections.

Features include:

- rugged mountain ridges
- pockets of remnant hoop pine rainforest
- giant grass trees.

Use

Only walking, cycling and horse riding are permitted. The trail is not suitable for road/racing bicycles, personal mobility vehicles or horse-drawn vehicles. Motorised vehicles of any type are prohibited. Walkers and cyclists need to be reasonably fit to enjoy the trail between Linville and Blackbutt. The trail gradually rises up the range to Blackbutt and some gully crossings along the trail are steep. The surface between Linville and Benarkin is rough gravel with some rocky sections.

The surface between Benarkin and Blackbutt features a more compacted gravel road base suited to people with a low to moderate fitness level—this section is especially suited to families. The trail is excellent for experienced horse riders (horses must be shod) and offers good horse facilities at Linville, Benarkin and Blackbutt. The trail joins Australia's Bicentennial National Trail at Staines Road, Benarkin.

Heritage—Indigenous

The Jagera, Yuggera and Ugarapul peoples are the traditional owners of the Brisbane Valley district. Prior to European settlement in 1824, the landscape of South East Queensland (as elsewhere in Australia) was influenced and protected by millennia of Aboriginal stewardship. Indigenous use and management of the landscape maintained a balance between the land and human needs. The South East Queensland Traditional Owners Alliance (SEQTOA) is overseeing archaeological research into the Indigenous heritage of the Brisbane Valley.

Heritage—European

The original railway line through the Brisbane Valley was built in the 1880s to transport supplies to the growing number of small farmers in the Valley, as well as milk products, timber and stock to Brisbane markets. The last rail motor service on the line was in 1989. The railway line was closed later that year. Brisbane Valley Heritage Trails Inc. has a wealth of old photos from the early days of the Brisbane Valley Line, as well as stories of working people, including the railway men.
